ASDES – Autism Skills Development and Employment Support is a small community interest company.

Autism Skills Development & Employment Support

Our Aim

To explore and maintain meaningful job opportunities for individuals who identify with autism / neurodiversity

One of our objectives alongside support for work is to

- Increase awareness of local opportunities through structured social activities

ASDES is fortunate to have many links with communities around Swansea that facilitate social development. It is recognised that the social opportunities enable individuals to enhance their CVs with skills developed in a variety of activities.

ASDES job coaches are self employed and work on an individual basis with groups and those in employment. ASDES does not have offices or a team of staff available to support events as they planned. It is therefore important that all individuals attending ASDES' social events have a level of independence that would enable them to arrive and leave social situations without the input from ASDES.

The way ASDES plans events means that the individuals attending have to be able to manage the situation if the ASDES personnel had to leave the meet up.

ASDES has written this statement to ensure that no individuals attend situations where there is not the right level of support for their needs.
